The final quarter of the 2016 Miami Beach housing market was characterized by mixed housing prices trends as well as lower sales volume skewed towards the entry and middle markets. Median sales price increased 5.3% to $395,000 from the year ago quarter, but by property type, the trends varied. Condo median sales price increased 8.9% to $359,500 while single-family median sales price declined 3.4% to $1,550,000 respectively over the same period. Weaker price patterns in the average sales price and average price per square foot metrics across property types showed the shift in the mix. Condo price trend indicators for the luxury market, reflecting the top 10% of all sales, showed overall stability. Luxury condo median sales price slipped 2.1% while the remaining metrics rose 1.8% from the year ago quarter. Luxury single-family price indicators were skewed lower from the combination of limited sales activity in a specialized submarket and a 31.2% decline in average sales size. The overall number of sales declined 21.5% to 663 sales, but the drop was skewed largely towards the condo market. The slower rate of sales helped inventory expand. Listing inventory increased 16.4% year over year to 6,016 with 17.2% more condo listings and 11% more single family-listings.
